4. Report from Chair

Mr. Broderick reported that while it’s been a difficult year, the Council seems to be turning a corner. He expressed that he’s enjoyed his time on the board and explained that he joined the Council during a time of renewal and the Council is in that moment again.

He outlined some of the most pressing contemporary issues: climate change, rising inequality, marginalizing of workers, and the rise of militarism in our communities and country, including arms production. These issues are central to the Council’s work – issues that we have been collectively involved over the years and key to our success.

Mr. Broderick acknowledged that the board had received criticism over the past couple of years, but noted that the board was attentive to the problems faced by the Council, including internal issues and workplace safety. He explained that the first attempt to hire a full-time Executive Director was unsuccessful. He then expressed gratitude to Andrea Furlong, who agreed to step off the board and leave her job in St. John’s to fulfill a one-year interim Executive Director position.

The board then conducted a second search, and we now have an outstanding Executive Director in Molly Kane. The board is confident that Ms. Kane will bring the stability the Council needs and while many board members are leaving with regret, they are leaving with the knowledge that they put the Council in better shape.

Mr. Broderick also paid tribute to Maude Barlow and thanked her for her years of work with the Council, noting that ‘Blue Communities’ project has spread worldwide. He confirmed that new hireings are taking place as part of the rebuilding and renewal process.

In conclusion, Mr. Broderick expressed that he leaves the board with confidence in the renewal commitment from the remaining board, a good slate of new board nominees, and hopes we can work together on issues facing Canadians. Mr. Broderick also recognized each of the board members who are leaving and thanked them for their years of work with the Council.

5. Executive Director Report

Molly Kane expressed appreciation for the confidence and trust in her role at the Council, having assumed the position of Executive Director in March. She made many life changes to take on this job but was motivated by a clear sense of importance of the Council and the opportunity to be involved in change. She knew of the Council in her previous work, and admired its work. She believed the Council would be a good fit but did feel deep concern for our situation when she started. She began by meeting with staff individually and then with chapters and regional staff as well. She also worked with the board on nominations and resolutions committee.

Ms. Kane noted there is currently a lot of momentum within the organization and it’s increasing. Getting to know staff has given her a good connection with the Council and her colleagues. She asked members present to thank staff for keeping things going under very difficult conditions over the past year. Ms. Kane thanked staff for giving her the benefit of the doubt when she began and she is very happy to be here now and expressed particular thanks to Meena Peruvemba and Jamian Logue for assisting her through the learning process.

Ms. Kane reported that visits with chapters were organized on short notice and people reached out to share concerns and visions and she thanked them for their trust and openness. She explained that it’s been a very inspiring journey so far and she wants to continue her chapter tours as soon as possible.

Ms. Kane also spoke of ongoing campaigns. She thanked Gordon Laxer for his report, ‘Billion Dollar Buyout’, which was produced with Sujata Dey for the trade campaign and noted that there is increased momentum in Green New Deal participation. Water Campaigner, Meera Karunananthan, has been travelling and making connections in Africa and Latin America around the Blue Planet Project. She also expressed the importance of fundraising and the challenge it’s faced with this past year.

Ms. Kane explained that the Council is understaffed but this is being addressed. She welcomed Ravi Joshi as the new Communications Director, and confirmed there will be other additions to the Communications Team. The Climate/Energy Campaigner, Water Campaigner and new Ontario Regional Organizer positions have been filled. The Prairies/NWT Organizer position should be filled soon, and the BC Regional Organizer position was filled internally by AJ Klein.

There will be a review and updating of job descriptions over the summer and negotiations for a new collective agreement this year as well. Staff will also be attending a two-day staff retreat following this meeting to begin the strategic planning process.

Ms. Kane concluded with comments about the future of the Council and expressed her wish that as we discuss governance issues that we consider a full discussion coming forward and resist the temptation to set things in stone today. She suggested giving some time to see how different components of discussion relate to each other to put forward as a comprehensive proposal .

6. Resolutions

Joey Hartman, Resolutions Committee Chair, delivered the report regarding resolutions and proposals (by-law amendments) and thanked other committee members, David Greenfield and Paul Strome. She advised that a Resolution on Urgency of RCMP Civilian Commission’s Report Release, had been accepted as an emergency resolution as the report it addresses was made public after the deadline. In addition, a substitute resolution for #R4, Resolution to Appoint a Board Election Reform Committee, was submitted on behalf of the board. The original resolution #R4 has been withdrawn by its mover.

Ms. Hartman advised that the board recommends that all adopted motions be reviewed for legal compliance before implementation.

The Council recognizes and honours the vital contribution of all of its component parts which are integral to its governance and success: the Chapters, the staff, the Board, affiliated organizations, allied unions and student groups, donors and the tens of thousands of individual supporters across the country and internationally; and

The Council will carry out renewal though a deep engagement with members and Chapters, recruiting new candidates to the Board of Directors who reflect the diversity of Canada’s population, with a balance of representation from all regions of the country, from Chapters, unions, student organizations, young people, newcomers and indigenous people; and

MOTION: As amended/CARRIED/UNANIMOUS

R2 – EMPOWERED, AUTONOMOUS AND INTER-CONNECTED COC CHAPTERS

WHEREAS local/regional grassroots Council of Canadians chapters continue to be the heart, backbone, and face of the organization for the thousands of volunteer hours of work that they do in the name of climate justice, social justice, environmental justice and a healthy democracy, and
WHEREAS Council of Canadians chapters have no legal status within the formal structure of the Council of Canadians and for all intents and purposes, activities of the of the organization’s Political Team,

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Executive Director and Political Team immediately launch a formal process to strengthen communications with and supports to and among grassroots chapters throughout the country so that each chapter is empowered and autonomous in its work on local/regional issues within the broader CoC mandate yet also connected with other chapters throughout the country and with the other two elements of the organization - the Board and staff - so as to ensure that no chapter is working in isolation or vulnerable to those forces that as a social justice organization, we fight against.

MOTION: Moved and seconded that R2-Empowered, Autonomous and Inter-Connected CoC Chapters be carried.

R3 – Strategic Review

WHEREAS the Council of Canadians has in its entire history of more than three decades never engaged in an organization-wide strategic review; and

WHEREAS internal matters affecting the Council led the Board of Directors to initiate a strategic review of the organization in mid-2018, which was supported entirely by volunteer labour and halted its efforts just a few months later, after one-day information-gathering meeting with three of the four Council regions,

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that:

1. the Board of Directors immediately allocate in principle sufficient human and financial resources to retain independent expertise to build on the preliminary review findings, to complete a governance and organizational assessment in 2019 that results in a five-year strategic plan guiding the Council of Canadians to model its vision for social and environmental justice in all facets of its governance, organizational structure, and day to day national and grassroots work, and that responds to the grave injustices of global corporatization, climate breakdown, and widespread social and economic inequality; and

2. this strategic review will be under the direction of the Executive Director, in collaboration with all chapters and staff, as well as the Board of Directors, and involve consultation with national, regional, and chapter allied organizations, as well as donor-supporters; and

3. given the rapidly changing times we live in and the urgent issues that must be addressed globally, nationally, regionally, and locally, the Board of Directors commit to the strategic planning process being undertaken at a minimum of every five years, and that the plans that arise from these processes shall always be considered living documents that can be reconsidered and supplemented in the interval between the five year planning processes, after consideration and decision by all voting members; and
4. that the bylaws of the Council of Canadians be amended at the next meeting of all voting members of the Council of Canadians, with the insertion of a section that enshrines in the organization's governance regulations the principles set out in #2 and #3 above. (NOTE this #4 is dealt with as Proposed By-Law

Ms. Kane gave the financial report and Finance Director, Meena Peruvemba answered questions. Ms. Kane confirmed that the Council received a clean audit from the auditors, with the decision to remove the loan to 25One as a receivable. This means that the loan has been written off the books, but the repayment will be pursued regardless. By-law proposals are binding and require a 2/3 majority vote in favour to be adopted. Ms. Hartman also explained that the board recommended that governance proposals be considered together and by the Good Governance Task Force, but also wanted to ensure discussion on each. She indicated that each would be moved, seconded and debated, followed by a motion of referral to the Task Force with instructions to consider the proposal’s intent and discussion at this 2019 AMM. Referral motions require 50% + 1 to pass.

Appointed members of the board shall be appointed for two-year terms and must be re-appointed by the eleven elected members of the board after a period of two years.

The board shall appoint a non-voting board member to serve as treasurer and a non-voting board member to serve as secretary. Both the treasurer and secretary may receive financial remuneration for their work.
